

Castro Is Back Today As Premier Demonstrations To Be Continued

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro, swept back into the Cuban premiership as expected, by an enormous popular demonstration, served notice Sunday night he will be friends with the United States only if the United States does not get in his way.

The spectacular crowd estimated at nearly a million cheered wildly as he told them he would bow to "the will of the people" and resume office. The demonstration again underscored that the bearded, 32-year-old revolutionary leader is Cuba's strong man.

Free Nation, He Insists

He asserted that Cuba is not a protectorate or colony of any other country but a free sovereign nation and "we have to account to no one."

Castro said Cuba wants to be friends with all nations but can not be with those "who offend us, who insult us and who exploit us" nor with any vested interest which tries to "impose itself on the destiny of our people."

But in 2 1/2 hours of talk, Castro failed to mention communism by name at all. He referred to it only obliquely, when hitting at his critics, but apparently did not feel it necessary to deny their charges that he is letting the Reds influence his government.

Uptown Havana's vast Civic Plaza was packed with the shouting, cheering throng. Castro told it emotionally that from now on the "symbol of our revolution will be the machete," the long, sharp knife used for cutting sugar cane.

Throng at Rally

The announcement provoked furious response during which some 400,000 campesinos—farmers—brought from the provinces to swell the demonstration clashed their machetes in unison to add to the general uproar.

Castro made it clear that such mammoth demonstrations will be held whenever it is considered necessary to demonstrate popular support for his policies. That of Sunday, officially celebrating the anniversary of his 26th of July revolutionary movement, was called originally to demonstrate support for his land redistribution program.

Castro claimed it was only the will of the people that persuaded him to resume the premiership he left nine days ago to force the resignation of provisional President Manuel Urrutia.

Lloyd Silent on Terms After Gromyko Session

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

GENEVA (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd was reported to have sounded out Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko today on whether Russia will make any cut in its terms for a Berlin deal.

Lloyd held a luncheon conference with Gromyko which lasted more than two hours.

As the East-West conference went into its ninth week of negotiations, a crowded schedule of talks also called for strategy consultations among the Western foreign ministers and a Big Four secret session at the end of the day.

Lloyd No Comment

When the luncheon at Lloyd's residence ended, Gromyko was asked whether there was any progress toward East-West agreement. He replied, pointing to Lloyd, "You had better ask the minister."

Lloyd had no comment. The United States and France have been reported standing firm against British pressure to cut German on Western terms for a Berlin agreement in order to clear the way for a summit conference.

Limited Assurance

Associates said Secretary of State Christian A. Herter is still determined to try to get an agreement from the Soviets Andrei A. Gromyko to protect West Berlin. He is reported equally determined not to accept any deal which will put a deadline on Allied rights there.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, who conferred with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan over the weekend, reportedly believes that limited assurances already offered by Gromyko are the best the West can hope for and should be accepted conditionally.

The condition, British informants said, is that the U.S.S.R. for the time being drop its demand for agreement on direct unification negotiations between the West German and Communist East German governments. All three Western powers were reported to have agreed that this price demanded by Gromyko for a stopgap Berlin deal.

Albany Mayor Is Asking Probe of Police Shooting

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—The mayor has asked for an investigation of the police shooting of an Albany Negro, whose death has drawn the attention of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

Mayor Erastus Corning II requested the Albany County district attorney by letter Saturday to investigate the death of William Brown, 24, who was shot by police July 17 on a street in the city's South End.

Police said they shot Brown when he fled from two patrolmen who had sought to question him about a threat Brown allegedly made on another Negro's life.

Corning said he wanted to dispel a rumor that Brown, after being wounded by the policemen, tried to get up and was shot again "from the front, through the abdomen."

Corning said all evidence showed this was impossible. He expressed confidence the police action was proper.

Corning wrote the district attorney, John T. Garry II, after a meeting with local officials of the NAACP.

He said the NAACP representatives told him they had a pathologist's report stating that one of the bullets found in Brown's body had been fired from the front.

The mayor said the NAACP representatives told him they might be able to produce witnesses. In a statement yesterday, the NAACP said it "would accept" a grand jury investigation of the shooting but hoped "an independent commission will be established to air this matter publicly."

Raymond Howe Dies at Parade

Supervisor Deputy Clerk Heart Victim

Raymond Howe Sr., 62, of 173 West Main Street, Port Ewen, died suddenly Saturday afternoon while viewing the firemen's parade in Rosendale. He had just left his car when he collapsed. He had suffered from a heart ailment for some time.

A resident of the Town of Esopus all his life, Mr. Howe was born in Connelly, the son of the late Charles W. and Cora Post Howe. Surviving are his wife, the former Ella Lapine; a son, Raymond Howe Jr., of Utica, and a grandson, Steven Charles Howe.

Was Esopus Supervisor

For the past seven years Mr. Howe has served as deputy clerk of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors and also as assistant budget officer of Ulster County. Always interested in civic affairs of his town, Mr. Howe served the Town of Esopus from 1936 for three terms as supervisor of the town. He became a member of the board of supervisors at the same time that Robert A. Snyder, Saugerties, present clerk of the board, became a member of the board.

An accountant by profession, Mr. Howe had served as assistant office manager of the Kingston Oil Company at its Sloatsburg office and during World War II he was employed by the C. Hillebrand Dry Dock Co., at Connelly as an expeditor.

Served Supervisors Assn.

Prior to engaging in the office equipment business, Mr. Howe had been employed by The Freeman. Because of illness Mr. Howe was compelled to give up the office equipment business and later, on regaining his health, he entered the employ of the Ulster County Welfare Department. Talk About Change in Wedding Day

SHORT HILLS, N.J. (AP)—A spokesman for the Ralph A. Hart family says there has been some discussion about changing the date of Jacqueline Gay Hart's wedding. It is scheduled for Aug. 29.

But the spokesman, George Gaines, did not elaborate for newsmen Sunday. He is the brother of Stanley Gaines, 25, Jacqueline's fiancé.

Hart, executive vice president of the Colgate-Palmolive Co., has ruled out immediate comment about the wedding, except to say: "As far as I know, they will be married."

The blonde, 21-year-old socialite arrived home by plane Saturday from Chicago, where she turned up after vanishing from New Jersey last Tuesday.

At first, she told police she had been abducted, but later admitted the story was a hoax.

The FBI says she "sort of exploded" from the tension of elaborate wedding preparations.

Gay saw her fiancé take a plane for Pittsburgh Tuesday night. Then, as she told police, she took a bus to New York and registered at a hotel there under the name of Dagmar Anderson of Allentown, Pa.

She spent the night there, then took a bus to Chicago Wednesday morning. There, she heard radio reports of the furor caused by her disappearance.

FBI Chief Richard Auerbach in Chicago said Gay went to five movies on Thursday and then, "in a panic, and not quite realizing what she was doing, and being all confused, she took a cab out into the park. She walked for a while and hailed the first police car she saw."

Joseph Weldon, Newark police director, indicated no charges would be filed against the girl. The chief assistant U.S. attorney in Chicago, Mitchell S. Rieger, also declined to prosecute Gay for giving false information about a kidnapping because of her "current and previous general mental and physical condition."

Gay herself cleared up one mystery: the disappearance of $5,000 worth of jewelry she wore when she left home.

She explained she mailed the gems from Chicago to a New York bus terminal. The FBI returned it to her Sunday.

Two Sides Meet Today With Steel Mediators

NEW YORK (AP)—Leaders of the strikebound steel industry and the United Steelworkers met today with federal mediators in the first joint negotiation session since the walkout began.

Both sides were mum concerning possible changes in their positions.

Joseph F. Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, reiterated his warning that no early or easy settlement of the 13-day-old strike appears likely.

Must Talk, He Says

Finnegan, who arranged the joint talks last week, said on his arrival from Washington Sunday night: "They can't settle this strike by not talking."

Heading the negotiating teams for today's talks are David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers of America, and R. Conrad Cooper, executive vice president of the United States Steel Corp.

78,000 Are Idle

The strike of 300,000 members of the United Steelworkers has shut down plants that produced almost 90 per cent of the nation's steel. The stoppage has idled an estimated 78,000 employees in other industries, with railroads the hardest hit.

The union's demands include a 15-cent-an-hour package increase in each year of a new contract, plus fringe benefits. The industry, rejecting the demands, contends that an increase in labor costs would force a rise in steel prices and thus help spur inflation. The union contends that industry profits and increased productivity make a wage rise possible without a price increase. Prostrike wages averaged $3.10 an hour.

W. Averell Harriman, Democratic former New York governor, charged President Eisenhower Sunday with being "pious" and "wishy-washy" for not intervening in the strike.

Knock Heads, Says Harriman

Harriman, secretary of commerce during part of the Truman administration, suggested that Eisenhower should have called in industry and union representatives and "knocked their heads together."

Harriman, in an interview on a New York television program, said: "Mr. (Eisenhower) has been saying everyone should take a very moderate point of view, and exhorting them. But he hasn't brought them in and knocked their heads together. I think he should have brought the two sides in and said: 'Now, you fellows have got to get together.'"

Fears Chain Reaction

Harriman said he fears the steel strike will start a "chain reaction" damaging to the nation's economy, with growing unemployment in allied industries.

Eisenhower has appealed repeatedly to both sides in the steel dispute to demonstrate economic statesmanship for the good of the country.

Rocky Signs Name As Ticonderoga 'Battle' Rages

TICONDEROGA, N. Y. (AP)—While Samuel de Champlain chased the Iroquois, several hundred young autograph hunters pursued Gov. Rockefeller.

Rockefeller and Gov. Robert Stafford of Vermont were among 5,000 spectators who watched the Battle of 1609 re-enacted Sunday in the shadow of Fort Ticonderoga.

The event was part of the observance of the 350th anniversary of Champlain's discovery of the lake that bears his name.

Champlain and 60 Huron Indians scrambled ashore from 24 birch-bark canoes and, with his harquebus blazing, routed the Iroquois in the mock battle.

Meanwhile, youngsters surrounded Rockefeller's open convertible and demanded his autograph. The governor didn't seem to mind. He leaned on the trunk of his car and signed away for about an hour.

The battle script was given a 20th century fillip when jets from Plattsburgh Air Force Base roared overhead as Champlain did battle with his harquebus, a primitive rifle and the first firearm the Iroquois had encountered.

In a brief speech, Rockefeller said:

"Living as we do in a world that is constantly shrinking, let us have the same courage that our forefathers had to pioneer for a still better world to live in."

The governor and Mrs. Rockefeller came here from their summer home at Seal Harbor, Me. They were luncheon guests of L. Judson Morhouse, Republican state chairman, who lives in Ticonderoga.

Leningrad Is First On Visit

Thinks His Debate Serves a Purpose

LENINGRAD (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon flew to Leningrad today to begin a five-day swing through parts of the Soviet Union.

Soviet Deputy Premier Frol Kozlov and his wife were among those accompanying Nixon and his wife. Also along was Georgi Zhukov, chairman of the Soviet Government Committee on Foreign Cultural Relations.

Flying ahead were two planes carrying 88 American and foreign newsmen.

Visits at Premier's Home

Nixon's departure from the Soviet capital was preceded by a weekend visit with Soviet Premier Khrushchev during which they discussed East-West differences for six hours.

Neither side would say whether the marathon talk had boosted chances for removal of the Soviet threat to Allied forces in West Berlin. But Nixon said the long exchange was helpful "because it provided an opportunity for frank and complete discussions in a calm and objective atmosphere."

Greeted by 1,000

A crowd of 1,000 greeted the vice president and his party at the Leningrad airport. It was nearly three times the number who turned out for their arrival in Moscow last Thursday.

Two American tourists joined the airport and held up a hastily scribbled "Welcome Nixon" sign. The vice president was delighted.

Have Full Discussion

Although there was no loud-speaker system, Nixon said in a brief arrival speech he and Khrushchev had a "constructive and full discussion of the many problems that we have between our two countries."

"I can say that we had some difference with Chairman Khrushchev at the points at issue. I would say it was not a case of his convincing me or me convincing him."

Talks Are Solution

Nixon went on to tell the crowd, made up mostly of young men and women, and with some sailors in uniform:

"The differences between nations in today's world must be (Continued on Page 8, Col. 6)

Congressmen See Nixon Match for Soviet Premier

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon is proving himself a match for Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, in the opinion of several Congress members.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the assistant Democratic leader, said Nixon is "making the best of a very difficult and delicate situation" during his visit to Moscow.

"He is rolling with the punches thrown at him by Khrushchev," Mansfield said. "He is also sending back some good punches."

Sen. John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky.), a former ambassador, said in a separate interview he thinks Nixon has matched Khrushchev in "directness and toughness" in their informal, caustic exchanges.

"Nixon is doing exactly what is needed," Cooper said. "He's talking the only kind of language Khrushchev can understand."

Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa.) said in a statement that Nixon's verbal encounter with Khrushchev was "a superb example of courage and intelligence."

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.), the Senate GOP leader, told a television audience he thinks Nixon has helped both himself and the nation by his actions, and added: "Frankly, I'm quite proud of his performance in the Soviet Union."

Nixon and Khrushchev engaged in a series of spirited exchanges as they toured the American National Exposition which Nixon formally opened in Moscow Friday.

Because Nixon is all but an avowed candidate for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination, there has been a great deal of speculation in Congress about the political effect of his trip.

Mansfield, who is no Nixon rooster, said he thinks the vice president stands to benefit at home for the way he has conducted himself thus far in a decidedly cool and often hostile atmosphere.

Supervisor...

He had served as president of the Ulster County Supervisors Association and at the time of his death was treasurer of that association.

President of Loan Board

Mr. Howe was a member of Rondout Lodge 343, F&M, the Craftsmen Club of that lodge, and he was also a former member of the Kingston Kiwanis Club. He was a member of the Port Ewen Methodist Church where he served as a member of the official board for a number of years and also served as a Sunday school teacher. He was a director of the Homelessers Savings and Loan Association of Kingston where he served as secretary of the board and he was also president of the Port Ewen Cemetery Association.

Throughout his public career Mr. Howe had one aim and ambition, that was to serve the people to the very best of his ability, and it was this determination which marked him as a public official whom everyone respected and admired. His loss to the county will be keenly felt as was demonstrated by the comment of Supervisor Jesse McHugh of Shawangunk, majority leader of the board of supervisors.

Lauds Ability

On hearing of the sudden death of Mr. Howe, Supervisor McHugh said:

"I shall always count my association with Ray Howe among the bright spots of my life. During our years with the Board of Supervisors our duties multiplied and they were trying and pressing at times. Broad of view and sympathetic in nature Ray always wanted to be helpful and his wide experience in business, his sound judgment, made his helpfulness valuable to me and I am sure, to every member of the board and to the people of Ulster County. He served us all with marked ability, regardless of the time it took or the demand it made on his strength. He made our work easier and our lives richer and happier."

Praised by Chairman

Supervisor Charles Relyea of Hurley, chairman of the board, said:

"Throughout the years, as Hurley supervisor and as chairman of the board, I often needed Ray Howe. Each of these times I found him cooperative, thorough, gracious and genial. He had infinite patience and care, a magnificent sense of truth and right. I think that every member of the board looked on Ray Howe as a friend. Our county can ill afford to lose his services and our board cannot afford to lose his helpfulness and fellowship. He served his town and the county with distinction and his loss will be keenly felt."

Personal Loss to Snyder

Robert A. Snyder, former supervisor of the town of Saugerties and clerk of the board throughout the period when Raymond Howe served as deputy county clerk said:

"Candor and friendliness were sublimely natural to him and he always had these virtues with him. He gave me and others the benefit of them in every contact he made. I feel a very personal loss. The depth and breadth of his services to Ulster County cannot be measured. He was dedicated to every task he undertook."

Fair, Says Gaffney

John J. Gaffney of Lloyd, Democratic leader of the board of supervisors, said the minority party extends its deepest feelings of sympathy to Mr. Howe's family. In all the many contacts that Democratic supervisors had with Mr. Howe, he said, they always found him fair, efficient, courteous and conscientious. "In the death of Mr. Howe, Ulster County has suffered a distinct loss, and it will be difficult to replace him."

The funeral will be held on Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the Jensen and Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs Street, where the Rev. Carl Caskey, pastor of the Port Ewen Methodist Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Riverview Cemetery, Port Ewen. Friends may call at the funeral home at any time.

Present and former supervisors and county officials will meet at the Ulster County courthouse at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday to attend the funeral.

Lloyd Silent

settlement is completely unacceptably.

Lloyd took the lead today in sounding out Gromyko on the possibility of a change in the Soviet position. He arranged a luncheon meeting with him to be followed by a meeting of the Western Big Three and West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano. Lloyd and Macmillan believe a summit meeting sooner or later is inevitable. They would like to get it on the basis of some agreement on Berlin here even though that falls short of what the West is asking.

Herter and President Eisenhower feel it is vital to stand absolutely firm in the face of Soviet threats even if there is no summit meeting. They believe the minimum the United States can accept is a Soviet pledge with no time limit on it — not to take any action to interfere with Western occupation rights in West Berlin. The French view is said to coincide with the American.

Mayfair Shop Moves To Center Location

The Mayfair Shop after 14 years in the Broadway section of Kingston, the last five at Post Office Square, is moving to a new location at the intersection of Broadway and Albany Avenue in the Kingston Empire Shopping Center area, close to the new Kingston arterial circle now under construction.

The Mayfair originated in the Uptown section and after several years moved to the central section of the city. It recently celebrated its twentieth business anniversary.

While the new location is known as in the Uptown section, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Cordeau who own the shop, feel it is on the fringe of both the Broadway and Uptown sections.

The building to which Mayfair will move, is owned by Fred Dressel, local plumbing contractor. The store front is new, of modern type, with corner windows. All new modern custom made wall fixtures have been ordered for the new shop. The wall background will be bluish pink and the new fixtures blond maple.

The Mayfair shop has handled better known brands of feminine merchandise for 20 years and the owners say they will not waver from this policy in the new location.

The store is starting a sales event at its present post office square site in order to open the new shop with all new fall merchandise in August.

Water Flows Again But Problem Looms

ROY, N.M. (AP)—Water flowed haltingly, but flowed, into the homes of this thirsty little New Mexico town for the first time in more than five days today, but a new problem has arisen for village officials.

How to pay for a new pump which the town purchased to push water through a leaky seven-mile water main from the town's wells to its bone-dry storage tank? "I haven't figured that out yet," said Mayor Robert Keirsey.

A combination of two faulty pumps and a leaky seven-mile water main of low-grade wartime pipe — caused the town's storage tank to go dry last Wednesday.

Roy had money, but none of it could be used for new water works equipment because of a state law which prevents the transfer of earmarked funds.

The state couldn't help because the fund for village emergencies was available only to unincorporated ones. Roy is incorporated.

Many of the 750 villagers worked most of Sunday installing the new pump and patching holes in the leaky main.

HOW PUBLIC OWNERSHIP OF SHARES HAS GROWN

WALL STREET, U.S.A.—In America today, women own more than half of all shares in public corporations. So says the New York Stock Exchange, which reports that shareownership has almost doubled since 1952 (see chart above). These 12.5 million stockholders are part owners of 5,100 publicly held companies. One out of eight adult Americans now owns stocks. This is in addition to investments in insurance, savings accounts, bonds and pensions.

Prayers Parallel Ike's Proclamation

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower returns to Washington today after having joined in a Sabbath prayer paralleling his captive nations proclamation.

The President arranged to leave his farm by helicopter for the 40-minute trip to the White House. He and Mrs. Eisenhower spent the weekend at their country place.

At Presbyterian services in Gettysburg Sunday, Eisenhower and the rest of the congregation joined the pastor in a prayer for those living under the tyranny of oppression and persecution.

The minister, the Rev. Robert A. MacAskill also prayed further for "alleviation of the plight and suffering of so many" so dominated.

The pastor made no specific mention of the President's captive nations proclamation which last week roused the ire of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and other Kremlin leaders. But the minister told newsmen after the service that his prayer was prompted by that proclamation.

After the services the President went to the Gettysburg Country Club for his third 18-hole round of golf in as many days.

Judge Has Profitable Day Enforcing Outmoded Laws

BRISTOL, Pa. (AP) — "There's more than one way to skin a cat," figured Justice of the Peace Earl B. Dougherty. That, he said, is the theory he applied Sunday to Pennsylvania's Sunday blue laws.

Dougherty spent the day driving through Bucks County, just north of Philadelphia, handing out 159 conviction-on-sight notices. The recipients included actress Peggy Cass, two toll booth collectors, a radio announcer, numerous plant guards, a druggist, a newspaper, and the reporters and photographers following him.

Blue Law Chaotic

"I'm actually against the Sunday blue laws," Dougherty said. "They're chaotic and outmoded and if they were strictly enforced would strangle Pennsylvania's entire economy."

"I'm a justice of the peace and it's my duty to enforce the law. So I did."

He reached the Bristol Playhouse, a summer theater, during the first act intermission, and asked to see Miss Cass.

"Are you worldly employed?" he asked, after introducing himself.

"Yes," said Miss Cass.

"Are you being paid?"

"Yes."

Must Pay Fine

"I hereby convict you on view for violation of the Sunday blue laws," He handed her a notice.

"Why I've never won a thing, and I'd rather not win this," the actress joked.

But, like the others, she must, according to the notice, appear today before Dougherty and pay a $4 fine plus $9 costs.

Dougherty's tour came at a time when the State House is considering a Senate-passed bill increasing the fine for violating the 1794 blue laws to $100 for the first offense and $200 for each subsequent offense.

The theft was reported as the Dallas Police Department started observance of National Burglary Prevention Week.

REMEMBER TO REMEMBER

As individuals we all prize the human capacity for memory. Yet in this bustling age, with its intense glare upon the immediate, there is need for much more reliance upon memory than we now exhibit in many aspects of life.

In our own lives, in our links with family, and in the larger settings of community and nation, it is important that we draw upon memory to provide a vital continuity.

While we are all actors upon today's stage, we all step out of backgrounds that tie us into streams of life that have gone before.

If we do not try to move with those streams, if we insist upon living simply in the present, we may very well miss the best of the here and now.

For that man is most likely to live fullest who brings to bear upon his immediate life the great weight of experience pulled not only from his own memory but from the stored memory piled up by humanity in the long course of history.

Men gain a legitimate sense of security from these links. It is comforting, rewarding, balancing to know—and to keep remembering—the story of one's own family. Your life is steadily enriched by the warmth of family traditions, by the feeling of continuity they give.

That feeling is valuable, too, in the wider context of existence. Your life as a worker, as a citizen, even as a pursuer of the arts of leisure, takes on far more meaning and enjoyment if you see it in the perspective of time.

This goes for everything from artistic creation to the business of earning a dollar. A good many who seek outlet today in the arts fail to relate their creative impulses to the great artistic traditions.

They think it enough merely to express themselves, without regard to meaningful links to the known and the familiar.

Those who make no attachments to the past, who ignore the ties of tradition in family, in their daily endeavors of whatever kind, in the national setting, miss a crucial part of the substance of their lives. And their personal contribution to the stream of history is correspondingly diminished.

Men who try to live to themselves, and wholly for the present, may pride themselves that they are sturdy islands, self-sufficient. But they are forgetting that the most salient single fact about an island is its isolation.

Only a sad ignorance can find self-sufficiency in its lonesome detachment.

The farm population now includes only one of every eight Americans, while it was one of three in 1910. So many of the 1910 farms have become city suburbs.

Horses are scarce in modern traffic. And so, for that matter, are drivers with horse sense.

CARELESS STEWARDSHIP

The chief counsel of the House subcommittee on intergovernmental operations has come up with interesting examples of the right hand not knowing—perhaps not even caring—what the left hand is doing. His testimony adds to the long list of instances in which lackadaisical public servants put the government to needless expense.

In one case, it was testified, the Department of Agriculture sold a private trader 206 bales of cotton at $75 apiece and financed the export of the same cotton at $124 a bale. In another case, the Army paid 34 cents a pound for dry milk which had originally been sold by the Department of Agriculture at 10 cents a pound.

There is little excuse for such slovenly dealings, even if only carelessness and not deliberate wrongdoing is involved. Instances of this kind bear out testimony that there has been a failure of officials "to appreciate the value of a dollar and to take ordinary commonsense precautions in spending the taxpayer's dollar."

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
THE COURSE OF EMPIRE

Soviet Russia pursues the course of empire differently from the great empire builders of the past. The Romans, for instance, sent their legions to conquer countries; the Russians do not conquer, they subdue. Napoleon, when he took over lands, reorganized them, placed new rulers over them, established dynasties; the Russians operate through a universal political party, always utilizing natives to establish an indigenous Soviet government and to execute its orders. Hitler built an economic-military empire of great power and wealth but never permitted himself time to consolidate his gains; the Russians utilize all the propagandistic devices available to gain time to achieve such a consolidation.

Of these devices, the most clever is the utilization of intellectual confusion throughout the world. While lesser groups appeal to what in this country are called the grass roots, the Russians in every country devote themselves most assiduously to the leadership groups. Native Communist parties work among the minority elements in this country, such elements as Negroes, Jews, pacifists, etc. But the Russians as Russians only meet the rich and the powerful. Well prepared arrangements are made to meet such great and important personalities. But even greater effort is set forth to convince all the intellectual elements of every country that Soviet Russia is superior to all other countries.

The psychological effect of this brilliantly planned effort is already visible in the United States. It is partly due to the previous general down-grading of Russia. For years, Americans were told that they possessed something called "know-how" which made them a superior race. Nobody else possessed this quality. Then came Sputnik and it was suddenly discovered that Soviet Russia also possessed "know-how." The effect was startling to those who were so ignorant of history as to have forgotten that for at least 1,000 years, Russia was a rising power in Europe. It was the same mentality that underestimated Japan before World War II and that failed to recognize that much of our "know-how" originated in Germany.

This does not, in any manner, lessen the significance of the United States or question our brilliant achievements over as short a period as 170 years of national existence. It simply is a recognition of facts and when one recognizes facts, there are fewer surprises. Our tourists who go to Moscow and discover a large building are shocked into forgetting that in New York or Pittsburgh or Chicago such buildings crowd each other on the skyline. They discover a university in Moscow, where they expected only ignorant moujiks, and they forget that in a city like New York there are about 60 institutions of higher learning. Nobody makes a fuss about that. It is expected of us.

Empire builders are always attractive and astonishing. Given time and perspective, and Hitler's idiosyncrasies will play less a part in the historical description of him than his startling achievement of making it possible for a country like Germany to fight on multiple fronts for six years. Even his death might make the last act of an opera.

The moral question of empire is too often overlooked altogether. The Soviet Russia has expanded, partly by the accident of war but principally by intrigue, assassination, mob bloodshed, but always by fictitious propaganda. All one has to read is the huge volume of falsehoods that Soviet Russia and her satellites let loose about the United States.

For instance, we are not supposed to enjoy freedom of the press. Why? Because our press is commercial and monopolistic. Soviet Russia's press is free. Why? Because the entire press is owned by the government. In the United States, such pro-Russian publications as "The Worker," the "National Guardian," "Masses and Mainstream," "The Nation" are published without any interference. Are there similar publications in Soviet Russia? No! Such publications could not get paper, ink or workers. Yet, we do not have a free press and they do! This is part of their propaganda of down-grading the United States and as astonishing as it may seem, it works in many parts of the world.

The Russian techniques of empire-building are new, brilliant and competent. They are also immoral. Against their efforts, ours have not been very successful because our officials are responsible to public opinion and our people would not relish Russian methods when practised by Americans.

Significance of Enlarged Heart Is Conditioned By Many Factors

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Another question on the heart opens today's column.

Q—Please say something about the cause and cure of an enlarged heart. What is the life expectancy of the patient who has heart enlargement?—Mrs. C. R.

A—The heart can be found larger than "normal" for a variety of reasons. For example, it may be enlarged in athletes simply to take care of the extra work which it may have to do. It also may be enlarged where one or more of the valves of the heart leak. It can be enlarged from high blood pressure and for a great many other reasons. Taken by itself, enlargement means very little. Where such exists, the cause must be sought and the treatment then depends on what is found. Consequently, the effect on life expectancy may be little or much, depending on what is responsible.

Q—What does it indicate when one has a high blood sedimentation?—F. S.

A—This is a rather complicated question, and can only be answered with caution. Sometimes the blood sedimentation speed is increased in the presence of infections and diseases. Thus it is not a specific diagnostic test for anything and probably finds its greatest use in following the course of some diseases such as rheumatic fever.

Q—Are there any dangers from using snuff or chewing tobacco?—S. L.

A—It is said that snuff may be a source of germs which in turn can cause bronchitis or other undesirable effects. The results of chewing tobacco are rather obscure. One might expect this to be quite harmful because of the nicotine content, but there are some reasons for believing that when the nicotine is absorbed from the digestive tract, it has its poisonous effects lessened by the liver before it reaches the blood. I can think of no benefits to the health from either one.

Q—I am 74 and retired. Now I am troubled with dreaming a lot and the dreams always seem to be on the frustrating side. I used to be a salesman, and often in my dreams, I try to sell but never can complete the transaction.—J. M.

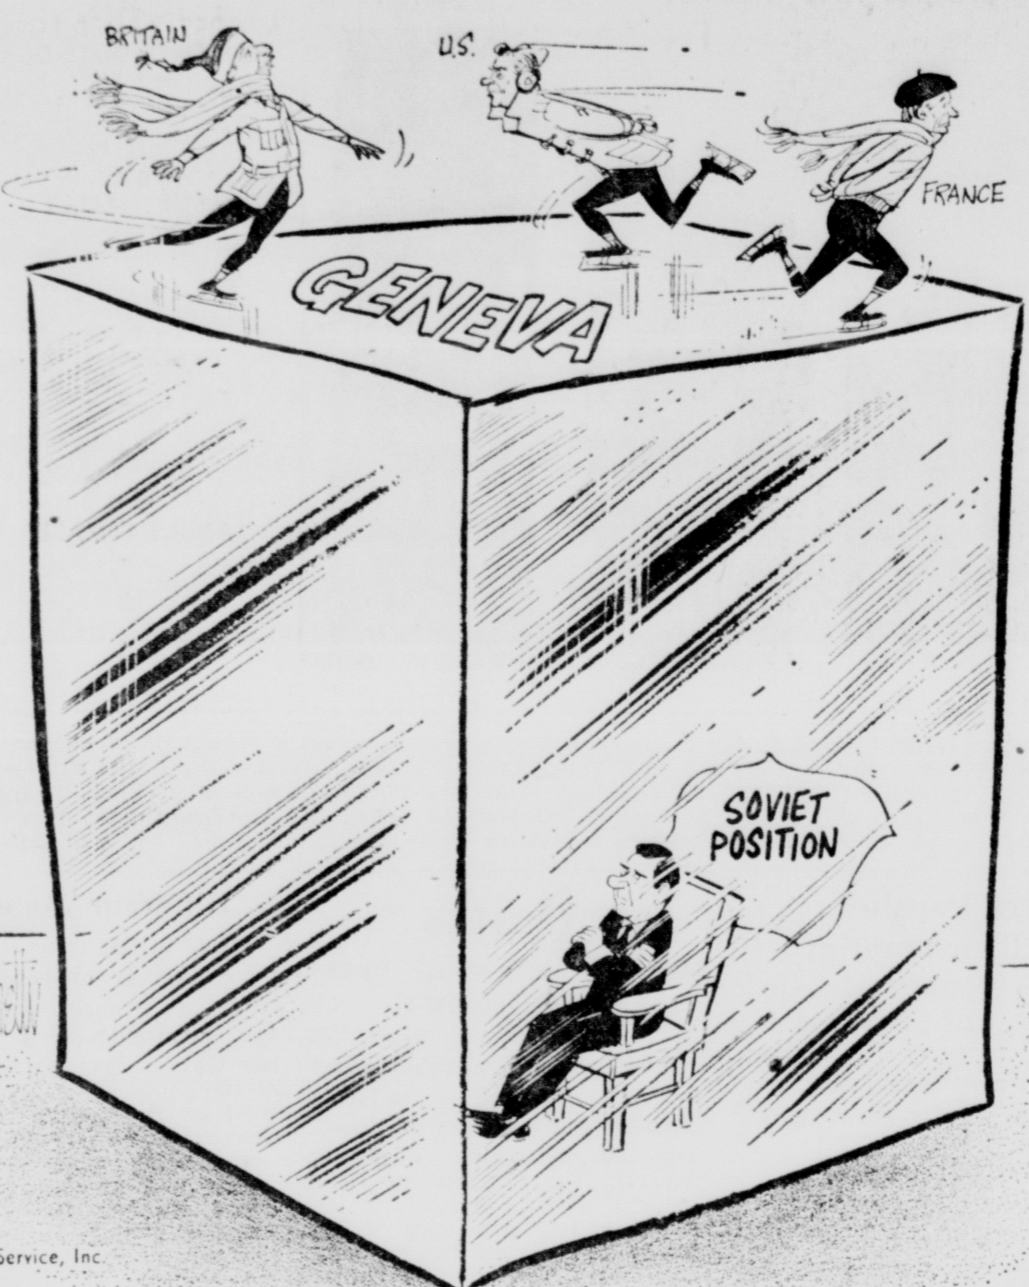

A—It is my impression that when one remembers dreams, they are almost all of the frustrating type. I am sorry to say I have no idea why this should be the case.

Q—My husband has trouble with his heart. It starts with a thud. He has had a cardiogram but it showed nothing. Can you give any information?—Mrs. C. R.

A—The most likely explanation is that your husband has an irregularity of the heart known as extrasystoles. This is an extra beat of the heart followed by a pause. It is common and usually does not reflect any severe disease of the heart itself.

Dr. Jordan is unable to answer questions directly. In this column he answers the most interesting and most frequently asked.

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—A piece in this space several weeks ago asking the question, "When are the voters going to get mad?", stirred up only a mild, little, grade-Z response.

The column recited some of the more glaring political sins of the year in Washington and then raised the riddle of why there had not been more of an uprising.

Overthrow of the government by force and violence was not advocated. There was no possibility for a Smith Act charge against the writer or his correspondents, even under the Supreme Court's milquetoast interpretation thereof.

But the mere fact that more people didn't whop it up to throw the rascals out proved the point that the general public is apathetic to political evil.

Even though a couple of other writers took up the cause and beat the drums for it, they didn't start much.

INEZ ROBB, WRITING HER syndicated column, in line feminine indignation allowed as how, "I am not only hopping mad about our laissez-faire attitude on corruption, I am boiling mad over wastage of my tax or blood money on the city, state or national level."

Jack Mabley in the Chicago Daily News commented a couple of times on what he called, "the most aggravating headline in a long time, 'When Will the Voters Get Mad?'"

Quoting one letter from a reader and mentioning "thousands of others from angered people who ask in desperation, What can we do," Mabley wrote: "What does this guy Edson mean, 'Nobody's mad?'"

"I'm plety mad" wrote P. W. Schneider of Chicago. "I receive my tax bill yesterday with another $36 increase and they tell me more is coming. When I complain to my alderman, all I get is a lot of vague and asinine statements and I am considered a griper. I'm mad."

HERE, IN TWO INSTANCES, the finger is put on the thing that bothers people most. It is their personal worry—their own high tax bill—not the Washington wrongs that need righting. Folks don't get mad about them.

The futility of trying to get corrective action on national or international political reform was well expressed by one reader, Ralph Brown, of the Cincinnati area.

"I would like to join any 'Vote 'em Out Club' if someone (else, of course) would start it," he wrote.

"But of what use would it be for me to go to my congressman or senator and say, 'Look here, you fellows have got this country in one hell of a mess.' They would say to me, 'You must be wrong, Brown, because every time we come up for re-election the voters approve and some of us are kept in office 'way after we are past 90 years of age.'"

That's an exaggeration by 10 or 15 years, but it makes the point.

PEOPLE IN THE GREATER New York World Telegram and Sun area seemed to be hotter under the collar and more bothered than most, judging by letters to this writer.

For instance, 18 citizens from Brooklyn—where razzberry indignation has always been such a high art—wrote:

"Some of our group think it would be a good thing if a third party could be started. Give it the name of, say, 'Honest Taxpayers' Party.' Use the names of Senator Byrd (D-Va.) and Senator Williams (R-De.)—either for President and Vice President—since they are, we believe, the two most honest men in the Senate.

"If such a campaign could be started . . . it would let the men who are doing such awful things with the taxpayers' money know that the public is finally getting aroused."

So They Say..

If the terms are right, there's a strong possibility I'll be back. —Leo "The Lip" Durocher, considering offer to return to baseball managing.

The era of the atomic club of the great powers is fast nearing its end. Inasmuch as the great powers do not succeed in achieving agreement in nuclear disarmament, then nobody can prevent economically weaker states from one day indulging in their own production of nuclear weapons.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Harry Lundeborg, Popeye the Sailor, as they called the president of the Seamen's International Union, had a wary respect for Paul Hall, the boss of the eastern and gulf jurisdictions of his realm. They both were in more than one line of business.

Popeye was a genuine swab, to be sure, but a riotous brawler also who hired out to fight in "beefs" against employers, or other unions, furnishing fighters from his San Francisco union hall at so much per "beef." He took notice that Paul Hall's subjects had shown up in affrays in New York, identified by the symbolic white cap which was their mark of identity like the forehead cap of Reuther's Michigan rioters, the bearskin shakos of the Thin Red Line and the leather collars of the original U. S. Marines.

Denial of the Right to Work Called Biggest U. S. Scandal

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 27—The biggest scandal in local government in America today isn't attracting much attention. Is it generally accepted that American citizens can be denied police protection when they are prevented forcibly—upon the orders of a labor union—from working at their jobs? This would seem to be a violation of the Constitution of the United States which guarantees the "privileges and immunities" of all citizens.

Two big steel companies have been told that their supervisory personnel would not be permitted to enter and leave the plants without the consent of certain labor unions.

Rights Ignored

Thus are "civil rights" lost. If the right of entry were denied at a Little Rock school, there would be demands for a return of Federal troops. But in Northern states today the local authorities, who are supposed to preserve law and order and punish any one who intimidates another citizen or threatens bodily violence, look the other way and let private organizations continue their threatening and intimidating tactics. Last week news dispatches telling of what was happening in the plants of two large steel companies were transmitted throughout the country by the press associations. But not a single protest has come from Congress or its Civil Rights Commission, nor has any public official of the states or counties where all this has been happening explained to the American people why they ignore the loss of "civil rights" in their respective localities.

Cites News Dispatches

Here are extracts from two news dispatches from The United Press International that tell the tragic story of how American citizens are deprived of their right to work. One is from East Chicago, Ill., dated July 24, and says: "A dispute over an 'open gate' policy at the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co.'s Indiana harbor works seemed likely to delay the issuance of pay checks to striking United Steelworkers there today. About 600 members of the United Steelworkers Local 1011 voted last night not to allow non-union personnel to enter and leave the plant."

Locked in by Union

It so happens that pay checks for a period just before the nationwide steel strike began are due near Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co. has several hundred supervisory employees who are not unionized, and they are locked up voluntarily in the plant because, once they leave, they would not be allowed back into the office building by the union pickets. The unions had proposed that some union personnel needed for the issuance of the pay checks could go back into the building long enough to write the checks, but immediately after this task was finished, they would not be allowed to return, and the supervisors also would be locked out once they left the plant. The company refused to make such an agreement.

Another dispatch on the same kind of dispute came from Pittsburgh on July 21. It said that an agreement was reached to allow free passage of personnel to and from the Pittsburgh and near-by Aliquippa works of the Jones & Laughlin Corp. But the agreement was made only after the company had applied for an injunction in the local county courts. The joint statement of the union and company reads as follows:

"The union and the corporation have agreed that all supervisory and salaried employees in the corporation having business in the Pittsburgh and Aliquippa works will pass freely in and out of the works. The corporation will promptly discontinue the injunction proceedings which it commenced against the union in the courts of common pleas of Allegheny and Beaver Counties."

Union Power Questioned

Thus does the labor-union monopoly in America transcend the power of government. The average American might think that the right to come and go to a place of employment is as sacred as the right of the American citizen to go in and out of a public school building or a church or any private home. But the labor unions have such a political influence over the local police in various cities that the authorities apparently ignore the threats and acts of intimidation which are designed to prevent the free entry of workmen into their places of business.

It's just too bad that to most of the so-called "liberals" the phrase "civil rights" means only the rights of certain citizens and not of all of them. Maybe the reason is that the labor unions contribute so heavily to the campaign funds of many of these "liberals" that, when elected to office, they feel they must do the bidding of the unions. Injunction proceedings in court, of course, constitute a remedy, but this often means long delay. Meanwhile, the damage is done—no workers are allowed in the plants, even though they want to work.

Many prominent churchmen and political "liberals" have lately insisted there is no such thing as the "right to work" and that no laws are necessary to safeguard that right. But the two news dispatches from Pittsburgh and East Chicago last week are impressive testimony to the contrary. (Reproduction Rights Reserved)

Plans Already Being Made For Conference on Aging

BY MARIE DAERR

What is the White House Conference on Aging?

It doesn't take place until January, 1961, but already you have seen it mentioned in your paper.

Already, there has been formal preparation for it such as the National Leadership Training Institute that followed the University of Michigan's recent Conference on Aging in Ann Arbor and the six-day program which opened at Chautauqua (N.Y.) Institution's 1959 summer season.

Aging is the subject of discussion for people in every town in the United States, because 2,500 of them will have a part in this "citizens' conferences."

It is the first meeting of its kind in the history of our country—a meeting authorized by law passed by the 85th Congress last August and signed by President Eisenhower Sept. 2. Government officials say the conference will have results that will be felt by every American 45 and over.

The stated purpose of the conference is "To formulate recommendations for immediate action in improving and developing programs to permit the country to take advantage of the skills of older people, to create conditions which will better enable them to meet their needs, and to further research on the problems connected with aging."

This includes:

Assuring middle-aged and older persons equal job chances with others.

Providing such people with enough money, suitable housing and help in preparing themselves for their later years.

Who is in charge of the big meeting? Overall responsibility for running the show goes to Arthur S. Flemming, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare. In charge of directing the conference is a national advisory committee headed by Robert W. Keane of Newark, N. J., closely identified with Social Security legislation during his 10 years with the House of Representatives.

To be sure that the conference reflects opinion from all over the country, the White House Conference on Aging Act provides that each state may apply for $5,000 to $15,000 to use for a state conference on aging before the big meeting. Purpose will be to prepare a new and brilliant chapter in the human history of the United States.

"Let us be done with an image of old age that is symbolized by rocking chairs and canes," Miss Adkins said. "Let us fully realize that many of our senior citizens are not happy peering out windows and watching life go by. They are eager and able to go right along with it."

"Our nation needs every bit of the brain power and talent and skills that can be developed in our people—young and old alike. In our older men and women we find the wisdom and experience that comes from maturity, and we need particularly to utilize these precious resources."

Q—What percentage of Social Security tax should be paid on a housekeeper's wages? —Mrs. L. F. Y.

A—Tax rates have been increased to 2½ per cent for employers and a like amount for employees, or a total of 5 per cent. These rates are applicable to wages on or after Jan. 1, 1959, even though the wages were earned prior to that date.

Q—I am 70 and still like to use lipstick and rouge. My daughter tells me I'm too old for that sort of thing. What do you think? —Mrs. J. T.

A—Maybe your daughter means you're overdoing it. The light touch is particularly wise when you are an older woman. Take another look in the mirror.

MANILA (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Charles Bohlen and Philippine Foreign Secretary Felixberto Serrano met three hours today discussing charges Filipinos were murdered at Clark Air Force Base north of Manila. Bohlen said he would file a protest unless the Philippine government repudiated charges that guards at the air base shot 23 Filipinos suspected of stealing base property between 1947 and July 1958.

CAPTURED—Rafael del Pino, above, one of Fidel Castro's most wanted enemies, was reported captured, July 25, 20 miles east of Havana while apparently trying to fly a group of Cubans from the country. Police said del Pino, leader of the "White Rose" organization, was wounded. (AP Photo).

Two Women Hurt In Traffic Mishaps

Two women were reported injured in two city weekend traffic mishaps.

Mrs. Iris Orshan, of Westbury, L. I., reported a neck injury after a three-car collision early Saturday afternoon on Broadway near East Chester Street, and Freda Kerstens, 18, of Stone Ridge was taken to Kingston Hospital for observation and treatment after the car in which she rode left the road near 240 Boulevard Saturday night.

Mrs. Orshan, police said was riding in a car owned and operated by William S. Israel, 33, of William, Conn. One of the other cars was driven by Kathleen Gayle, 34, of 182 North Water Street, Newburgh, who received a summons charging lack of registration and the other involved was owned by James Madden, 38, of 38 Hoffman Street.

Freda Kerstens was riding in the car of Anthony Kerstens, Box 108, Stone Ridge, when it left the road in the Boulevard mishap. Her condition was reported as "fair" at Kingston Hospital today. The car was towed from the scene.

Beaten Promoter's Home Threatened By Flash Blaze

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A flash fire broke out late Sunday night in the home of boxing promoter Jackie Leonard, who on June 3 said he was beaten after receiving threats from underworld figures trying to muscle into boxing.

Leonard said he and his wife, Jeanne, and two women visitors were watching television when the fire started in a front bedroom. He said the wire screen covering of the bedroom window had been torn open.

"I called the fire department and arson squad investigators," Leonard said. "I threw several pans of water on the fire and was able to get it out before they arrived."

Leonard said this was the second incident at his home in the last two weeks. On July 12, he said, a gallon can half full of gasoline was found on the front porch of his home. He said gasoline had been splashed on the window sill and side of the house.

Leonard was found unconscious in his garage last June 3. He said two men had attacked him. After an investigation, police expressed the opinion Leonard had blacked out and injured himself in a fall.

Earlier, Leonard had told the California Athletic Commission that underworld figures Frankie Carbo and Frank (Blinky) Palermo had threatened him in an attempt to get a part of the contract to world welterweight champion Don Jordan.

Less Than 10 Red Missiles Could Hit U. S., Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union has fewer than 10 intercontinental range missiles capable of hitting the United States, Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy says.

McElroy's statement Sunday contrasted with his news conference views six months ago when he said "We do not believe that Russia has an ICBM capable of operation against this country at this time."

McElroy made it clear Sunday that U.S. defense leaders believe over-all American weapons "could more than match whatever the Russians will have in intercontinental ballistic missile capability."

McElroy said during a television interview with Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-N.Y.) the United States must retain an ability to destroy the Soviet Union if the Soviets should attack with large weapons.

Steel Strike At-A-Glance

IDLE—A half-million united steelworkers, on strike for the 13th day against the basic steel industry, plus some 78,000 employees in allied industries.

NEGOTIATIONS—Joint negotiations scheduled for today in New York—the first since the walkout began.

LOSSES—Industry losing an estimated 43 million dollars daily in production; union losing an estimated 10 million daily in wages.

ISSUES—Union seeks a 15-cent hourly annual wage increase and improved fringe benefits. Industry resists any boost in labor costs, contends this would be inflationary.

New Bills Would Aid Labor, Wheat, Housing Problem

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bills Congress will pass before adjournment will do all that a majority of its members and the President will agree can be done now, says Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson.

Hinting strongly at a willingness to compromise, the Senate Democratic leader said he must see that the Democratic-controlled Senate avoids a legislative deadlock with the Republican Administration.

Congress must do something, Johnson added in a week radio-TV interview, even if "we won't do everything that I would like to do."

Johnson expressed his views during a radio-TV program with Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass.) recorded for Massachusetts and Texas stations.

What does Johnson think about these important issues still before Congress?

Labor regulation: He predicted passage of a good bill.

Housing: He said he expects Democrats to find some area of agreement with President Eisenhower. He made no mention of a possible attempt to override Eisenhower's housing bill veto.

Civil rights: He said he hopes Congress will pass a civil rights measure this session, adding "I think it's very important that we have understanding and we have tolerance, but that we make progress."

Wheat and tobacco: The Senate will not hesitate to take another look at wheat and tobacco control legislation, he said, if Democrats can find common ground with the Republicans on measures to replace the vetoed wheat and tobacco bills.

Housing: He said he expects Democrats to find some area of agreement with President Eisenhower. He made no mention of a possible attempt to override Eisenhower's housing bill veto.

Civil rights: He said he hopes Congress will pass a civil rights measure this session, adding "I think it's very important that we have understanding and we have tolerance, but that we make progress."

Wheat and tobacco: The Senate will not hesitate to take another look at wheat and tobacco control legislation, he said, if Democrats can find common ground with the Republicans on measures to replace the vetoed wheat and tobacco bills.

Aluminum Talks Continue on Contracts

NEW YORK (AP) — Contract negotiations in the aluminum industry resumed today. Present contracts covering about 58,000 employees of the "big three" expire Friday.

The big three are the Aluminum Co. of America, Reynolds Metals Co. and Kaiser Aluminum Chemical Corp.

The United Steelworkers of America claims to represent about 30,000 employees of the big three, with the rest represented by other unions, including the Aluminum Workers International Union.

The aluminum workers union president, Edward Stahl, said Sunday that locals of his union involved in the negotiations have taken strike votes, to use in case no agreement is reached.

The three firms have turned down a union proposal for a 15-cent hourly annual package increase. Current wages range from $2.75 to $2.91 an hour.

Norman Thomas Says Shelters Plan Futile

RENSSELAERVILLE, N. Y. (AP)—Norman Thomas, Socialist Party candidate for president six times, says that Gov. Rockefeller's plan for fallout shelters is futile. Thomas urged a code of ethics as a solution to world problems.

Rockefeller has said he will ask the 1960 Legislature to pass a law requiring construction of shelters in homes and business establishments.

Thomas said in a sermon Sunday night at the Presbyterian Church in this Albany County community that such shelters could

Reprimand Results In Double Shooting

TUCUMCARI, N.M. (AP) — A handicapped 13-year-old boy was held for psychiatric examination today after he shot his father and mother with a high-powered rifle. Gordon Ellis, a bare-lipped cripple with a cleft palate, told officers he used a 30-30 rifle on his sleeping parents because:

His father had "bawled him out" for failing to run an errand. His parents had refused to buy him a motor scooter, and

They wouldn't let him go to his grandmother's home to watch television.

His father, Ted Ellis, and mother, Charlotte, lay in Tucumcari General Hospital in serious condition. The father was shot in the chest and left shoulder. Mrs. Ellis in the right shoulder and hip.

The first question young Ellis asked officers when they arrived near midnight Saturday after the shooting was reported as: "Do you think I'll get a spanking?"

A Little Wrong
HAMPTON, Va. (AP) — A Presbyterian gave the Rev. Richard W. Buckingham, a Methodist minister here, a magazine subscription. Presbyterians refer to minister's homes as manse. The magazine's subscription department got confused and sent it care of "The Methodist Mouse."

not withstand repeated nuclear attacks.

Thomas, a former clergyman, said the Rockefeller shelter plan was one of several military proposals offered in the Cold war.

"What you do not hear," Thomas said, "is talk of ethics. This is the only thing the world can count on."

Rockefeller said he was reactivating the council, which was created in 1957.

He named Mark Buckman of Sodas as chairman.

Five of those named by the governor were reappointed to the unsalaried council.

cese of Buffalo; Rev. Kenneth Roadarmel, Syracuse, executive secretary of the State Council of Churches; William H. Sherman, Victor, secretary of the State Canners and Freezers Assn.

Retired Insurance
Leader Is Dead,
Was in 1905 Probe

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (AP)—James Hazen Hyde, 83, died Sunday on the eve of the 100th anniversary of the huge Equitable Life Assurance Society founded by his father.

Hyde, who had been ill for a long period, died at a hotel where he had resided.

The insurance firm, founded by the late Henry Baldwin Hyde, is conducting a three-day anniversary celebration.

James inherited his father's multi-million-dollar insurance holdings at the age of 23 and became vice president of the company. He quit the insurance business in 1905 after one of the most sensational insurance investigations in the nation's history.

The probe paved the way to the governorship and the U. S. Supreme Court for the chief investigator, the late Charles Evans Hughes.

The youthful Hyde convinced many, including Hughes, that he was being blamed for the misdeeds of older and more experienced financiers.

At the time of the investigation, he had a reputation as a man-about-town. One newspaper called him a "gilded, scented youth" unfit for his position of financial power.

A lover of French culture since his college days, he exiled himself to France and did not return to this country until World War II. In recent years, he divided his time between New York City and Saratoga Springs.

During his residence in France, he was a frequent lecturer before many academic groups on Franco-American relations and culture.

The French awarded him the "Medal of French Gratitude" for his relief work in World War I and the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor.

One of his last public acts was to donate a large personal library to the City of Versailles nearly a score of years ago.

Surviving is a son, Henry Baldwin Hyde of New York City.

Stamps for Christianity

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—About five years ago, Miss Andrea Olsen, librarian of the Seattle Council of Churches, started a sideline project of collecting and selling stamps to support Christian work.

It has snowballed, with stamps pouring in from across the country, producing income of an average $184 monthly—a total of $5,075 so far. The money goes to Church World service, the Protestant overseas relief agency.

Shoot Postponed

LAKE GEORGE, N. Y. (AP)—Too many spectators turned up for a target shoot featuring old-fashioned weapons. It was postponed a day and moved to a more isolated section of lake front.

An estimated 70,000 persons jammed this resort village at the southern end of Lake George Saturday. The beaches were teeming.

The sheriff's department feared a ricocheting bullet might injure spectators.

Reactivated Civil War regiments participated in the shoot, which was held Sunday two miles south of the village. The First New Jersey Volunteers from Millburne, N. J., won.

Business Increased

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Eastman Kodak Co. of Rochester reports sales of $400,786,235 and earnings of $52,720,909 for the first half of 1959.

The report Sunday said that in the first half of last year, earnings were $37,330,269 and sales were $333,621,635.

Per share earnings for the six-month period totaled $1.36 compared with 96 cents a year ago.

When you want to cook wedges of apple on top of the range for a compote, use a thin syrup; one cup of sugar to three cups of water. Serve the apples with a fluff of cream cheese beaten with a little milk or cream and a suspicion of lemon juice.

REMOVING CAR FROM RIFTON LAKE—Car of Vernon Stoutenburgh, 18, of Rifton is removed from Rifton Lake following a tumble off a rock cliff early Saturday morning when the youth fell asleep and lost control of the vehicle, according to Ulster County Sheriff's Office report. Stoutenburgh slipped through a window of the vehicle and swam ashore. He reportedly walked to his home not far away, then collapsed from shock. He was taken to Benedictine Hospital where he was treated for bruises of the chest and knee. (Freeman photo).

Troopers Seize Weapons, Youth After Wild Party

Kingston state police broke up a "wild party" in a wooded section of the village of Woodstock early Sunday morning, rounding up six young people ranging in age from 14 to 21 and arresting one of them for possession of a small arsenal of weapons and ammunition.

Troopers received a call in the wee hours Sunday from Constable Clarence Snyder of Woodstock reporting that a group of young people were raising a disturbance in the village.

Trooper Charles Teelon, BCI, Richard Ryan and Robert Fink were dispatched to the scene. They found the group drinking and whooping it up in the woods.

City Youth Seized

Arrested was Justus Ralph Taylor, 19, of 310 East 6th Street, New York City, on a charge of possession of concealed weapons.

In a station wagon operated by Taylor they found an imposing array of weapons:

A Winchester Model 1873 rifle, a Russian 762-millimeter rifle, a U. S. 30-caliber Carbine, a 9-millimeter German Luger, a .22-caliber automatic pistol, several knives, machetes (large South American knife and switchblades. Along with the weapons they found a quantity of ammunition.

Investigation disclosed that Taylor owned all the stuff and that the other young people knew nothing about it.

Several Released

Picked up and later released were: Jeremiah Schlemowitz, 16; Maria Grace D'Amato, 16; David J. Simon, 19; Bruce George Britton, 21; and two 14-year-old girls, all from the metropolitan area.

Troopers said the group did not come from the city together but apparently met in the village and decided to hold a party.

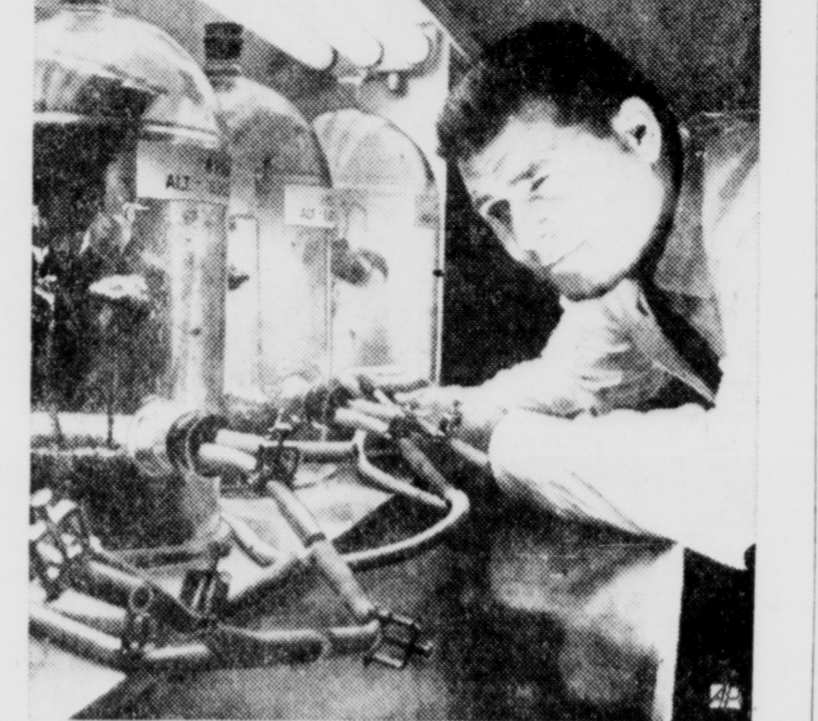

They drove out to a spot on Route 212 beyond the Woodstock Country Club. When the party reached a high pitch of enthusiasm residents of the area called Constable Snyder who, in turn, asked for assistance from state police.

Some Barefooted

It was reported that some of the young people were barefooted and badly in need of haircuts.

They were reported to be visiting in the village with their parents who knew nothing about the party.

MASS PSYCHOLOGY

Every investor is a law unto himself. Consequently, when he gets confused by the mass psychology which frequently invades the stock market, he is likely to make some bad decisions. Such conditions characterize the securities markets today.

The international petroleum equities like Standard Oil of California, Royal Dutch and Standard Oil of New Jersey are just now in disfavor in many circles. The political environment in those sections of the world where these companies have large holdings is not too healthy. Hence, people are selling their shares.

Many of the aircraft stocks like Douglas, Boeing and Lockheed are selling at almost their bottom prices for the first half of 1959. There has been much mass-psychology selling of these shares. Many investors have fearfully dumped their stocks after having been caught up in the wholesale advices which have flooded the mails.

Just a year ago (August 3, 1958), I discussed the unfavorable public feeling about the automobile industry. I quote from the article: "There are literally thousands of investors willing to take large losses in automobile stocks at the present time. All they hear about this key industry is unfavorable and psychologically they are prepared to dump their shares."

Since that time Ford has doubled in price, Chrysler has appreciated more than 50 per cent and General Motors has advanced almost 50 per cent.

Any investor who isolates himself from the thinking of the mob has a good chance of seeing through the mass confusion and today with inflation, capital gains taxes and the wholesale promulgation of stock market advice to contend with, he had better do some independent thinking.

Relating an experience of a typically confused investor will point up what I have just been saying.

When the Ford Foundation sold a large block of Ford shares for $64 1/2 each, he was allotted 200 shares. Last year when the pessimism about motor equities was at its height, he sold his holdings for about $40, taking a loss of more than $5,000. He sold out nearly on the bottom. Today the shares are $78 each and he is fit to be tied.

Right now, he has 500 shares of Royal Dutch Petroleum (one of the biggest and best oil concerns in the world) and over 600 shares of Douglas Aircraft.

Within a week he received in his mail several advices to unload both stocks. He has a small loss in Royal Dutch and a tremendous profit in Douglas. He has sold Douglas at $46 and $47 and is wondering whether Douglas sale will boomerang as did Ford.

His Douglas (there have been splits and stock dividends) cost him less than $15 a share and his scared selling is both unnecessary and unsound.

In America today there are thousands of stockholders whose investment decisions rest on mass thinking. This is all wrong. An investor should be an individual and not a crowd.

When buying and selling advice, go out to fuzzy-thinking equity holders in times like these, one can expect that mistakes galore will be made. Yes, every investor should be a law unto himself.

THE FORUM

(Q) (From several readers): "Have large profits in many stocks. Should I sell them?"

(A) When sound stocks are bought primarily for dependable income and sound growth, no. When they are bought for capital gains, yes.

Harry C. France will answer one letter each week through this column. If you have any investment questions, write in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING ETHICS OF ADVERTISING

What it means to you
The Advertiser
How it protects you
The Reader

Classified Advertising, as it is known today, is the oldest form of advertising. Its origin being traced back more than 250 years to the early days of newspapers. A time when all other accepted forms of advertising had not yet been devised by man.

Classified Advertising is the only advertising media of the great masses of the public. The place where the people, who make up any community, can for a low cost, make known to thousands their wishes, desires, wants and needs. Because Classified Advertising is the media where people place their OWN advertising . . . it is the media they just naturally turn to when they have a want or need.

Business men, having recognized that Classified Advertising is one of the most powerful of all "Public Announcement" media, also utilize the people's advertising market place to offer for sale their merchandise and services in an effort to assist you, the reader and user of classified, in solving your wants, needs and desires.

Because classified advertising is your advertising media, The Kingston Daily Freeman has established many rules of ethics in advertising governing the placing of advertising. These rules are for the protection of the reader and advertiser alike. They assure the reader of a clean cut, clear and honest presentation of the items advertised. These same rules protect the business concerns against unfair, misleading advertising of the unscrupulous . . . thereby maintaining readership at the highest possible level.

Readership of advertising . . . means results for all. The Kingston Daily Freeman Classified is one of the best edited, best checked advertising media in America. The Kingston Daily Freeman Classified is one of world leaders in maintaining clean advertising columns.

You, as a reader; and you, as an advertiser, are invited to assist us in maintaining advertising results at the highest possible level by discussing any and all advertising that has not given you an accurate picture of the product or service advertised.

Philip Gordon Is Re-Elected President of Oteora Board

Philip Gordon of Phenicia has been re-elected president of the Oteora Board of Education and official designations and appointments for the 1959-60 year have been announced.

Gordon, who has held the office for several consecutive terms, was named at the annual reorganization meeting.

The makeup of the Board for the 1959-60 school year will also include: Harry Allen, Edward West, Albert Fox, John Haggerty, Johan Aalto, Arthur P. Knight, Mrs. Bohumir Larys and Mrs. Edna Bishop.

At the same meeting, William H. Deming was appointed acting district principal; Paul Runge was appointed director of secondary education and Ronald Vanni was named director of elementary education.

A proposal by District Superintendent Reginald that a post of business manager be created was deferred to a later meeting.

A business manager would take care of supplies, transportation, purchases and other school business.

Other Designations
Other designations for the fiscal school year:

John H. Moehle, recently resigned as district principal, was named as district clerk until his resignation becomes effective Sept. 11.

Janie Silkworth of Olive Bridge was appointed district treasurer for the 1959-60 school year at a salary of $1200 per annum.

Mrs. Anita Shulman of Chichester was appointed as collector at a salary of $2,000 per year.

Vincent G. Connelly, of the Kingston law firm of Connelly Connelly was appointed school district attorney at a fee of $2,400 annually.

Stanley Haug, CPA, was appointed as auditor at an annual salary of $1800.

Mrs. Ruth Bark and Mrs. Hazel Osborne were appointed attendance officers and census enumerators.

Dr. Charles A. Quinn, Phenicia, was appointed as chief school physician and Dr. Paul Le Paige, Woodstock; Dr. John McKeon, Phenicia; Dr. Edward Shea, Kingston and Dr. Kenneth Bremer, Woodstock, were chosen as association physicians. These appointments are made at the existing fees for physicians—$15.00 per pupil examination, $7.50 per hour for clinics.

Nanette Forlini, Phenicia, was appointed as secretary to adult education, at an annual salary of 360.

Dr. Samuel Porter, Phenicia, was appointed school dentist at an annual salary of $2,000.

Stanley G. Haug, West Shokan, and Carroll F. Simpson, Phenicia, were named as the insurance advisory committee for the coming year.

Fix Meeting Date
The treasurer's bond in the amount of $150,000 was approved and duly signed by each member of the board.

The regular monthly meetings of the Board of Education were set for the third Monday of every month at 8 p. m.

The refuse removal contract between the Board of Education and William Spanhake, Jr., was approved in the amount of $720.

The Kingston Trust Company, Phenicia branch, and the Bank of Orange County, Woodstock branch, were designated as the official depositories of school funds for the 1959-60 school year, specific funds to be designated to the Bank of Orange County shall be in accordance with the memorandum dated July 9, 1959 on file in the board folder.

However, the designation of the Bank of Orange County is contingent upon whether or not the bank can prove that the school district will be fully protected in the event of bank failure.

During the lengthy discussion on the subject, it was pointed out that the Kingston Trust Company holds $150,000 in government bonds in escrow in a safe deposit box against any possible failure of the bank. The district attorney inspects the safe deposit box every three months to ascertain that the bonds are still being held.

The memorandum referred to contained the provision that the Woodstock bank be given $10,000 immediately and $120,000 more on Nov. 1, 1959.

Name Official Papers
The Ulster County Townsman, Kingston Daily Freeman and Oteora Record were designated as the three official newspapers for advertising and publication purposes for the district.

It was voted that the services of the secretary at Board of Education meetings be paid at the rate of $1.68 per hour.

Trustee West moved to delegate to John Moehle the authority to open bids, approve employees attendance at conferences, conventions where expenses are reimbursable.

A motion was adopted empowering the president of the Board of Education to sign the tax warrant on or before August 31.

Trustee Larys moved to establish a petty cash fund of $100 for the Boiceville School and $50 each for the West Hurley elementary school and the Woodstock elementary school.

Committees Named
President Gordon appointed the following committees: First Auditing Committee—Mrs. Marie Kleine, Arthur P. Knight, Harry Allen, Inspection Committee—Albert Fox, John Haggerty, Ed West; Insurance Committee—Mrs. Bohumir Larys, John Haggerty, Albert Fox; Budget Committee—Mrs. Marie Kleine, Harry Allen, Arthur P. Knight; New Construction Committee—Ed West, Harry Allen, Johan Aalto, Mrs. Marie Kleine; Policy Handbook—Johan Aalto, Mrs. Marie Kleine, Mrs. Bohumir Larys.

The rate for overtime, after school driving, for William Spanhake, DeForrest Smith, Barton Gugliemetti was established at $1.73 and Carlton Buley at $1.81; overtime for Paul DeBruyn at $2.66 and clerical staff at $1.68 per hour.

On motion by Trustee Allen, ceilings on expense account reimbursements were established as follows: food $6.00 per diem; hotel room, $7.00 per diem; 8 cents per mile use of car (includes overnight garage charges but not highways, bridge tolls).

Catholic Priest Warns Against Traffic Hazard
The Rev. Jeremiah Nemecek, pastor of St. John's Catholic parish, which includes churches in Woodstock, West Hurley and West Shokan, has appealed for caution by motorists exiting from Route 28-A to Route 28 across from the Zena road.

In a message to parishioners at Sunday masses, Father Nemecek said he is continuing his efforts to have one-way traffic on the approaches to and exits from Route 28-A where it flows into the triangular section near Brattain's.

Several weeks ago, the Woodstock pastor took up the matter with Supervisor Joseph Fitzsimmons of Woodstock township, who brought the matter to the attention of the Town Board and appealed to the State Highway Department for one-way traffic signs at the dangerous triangle.

Calling the intersection a "death trap" Father Nemecek warned motorists coming up Route 28-A from West Hurley to take the right hand turn past the iron bridge and come out on Route 28 in front of Brattain's. A driver taking a left turn into the main highway is, in effect, confronted with a blind turn.

Father Nemecek said that he personally had witnessed many "near misses" and near accidents at the location. He strongly urged that something be done before many people are killed.

The Kaaterskill Group Planning 1st Major Event
The Kaaterskill Group will present a new member, George Wardlaw of State University Teachers College at New Paltz in the first of its major shows which starts on Sunday, Aug. 2, with a festive opening.

Wardlaw has shown at the Seligman Gallery, Brooks Memorial Gallery, Tennessee; Delgado Museum and the Forum Gallery in New York city, among many other places.

The Group extends a cordial invitation to all who are interested. The Judson Smith Gallery is located on the lower Ohayo Mountain Road, approximately a half mile from the post office, reached from town by crossing the millstream and turning to the right and then crossing Sully's Bridge. There will be direction signs for the short distance to the red barn which is the gallery.

Was Local Pioneer
The Gallery is named in honor of the painter, Judson Smith, who is a member of the Group. This is of special interest in this year of the Hudson Champlain Festival, because of the role that Woodstock has a link between the old epochs and the new.

Judson Smith was a pioneer of contemporary paintings in Woodstock, a forerunner with boldness and daring. He came to Woodstock in 1922 and in 1931 founded his Woodstock school of painting. In the 1940s, much of his painting was completely non-objective. Though more or less isolated, his work had the same current feeling and vigor as the paintings produced by the avant garde in New York city. In 1957 he was given a retrospective show by the Woodstock Artists Association.

Rummage Sale Planned In Village Wednesday

Mrs. Gus Shultis of Wittenberg will sponsor a rummage sale starting at 3 p. m. Wednesday, July 29, under the maple trees near the Grand Union store in Woodstock.

Proceeds will go toward the purchase of a wheelchair for a little boy suffering from muscular dystrophy. The Ladies Auxiliary of the Wittenberg Sportsmen's Club has donated $25.00 toward the purchase of the wheelchair.

Mrs. Shultis says there will be a variety of things on sale.

Republican Club Plans Big Rally

The Woodstock Republican Club has announced it will stage an old fashioned political rally, Sept. 15 at Mink Hollow Ranch.

The spacious and picturesque setting are especially suited to the purpose of the rally. There will be a chicken barbeque and in addition someone will drive home a 1959 Renault.

Also to be awarded will be paintings by John Pike and Allen Cochrane.

Victor L. May, general chairman of the rally, says arrangements are being made for a real family outing and there will be a program to keep the children interested. A speaker of note is also on the program.

Summer Adult Program at OCS

The Adult Education Advisory Committee of the Oteora Central School will sponsor a six week summer adult program to include Driver Education and Painting.

The painting class got under way Tuesday in the main building, with Miss B. Sturtevant Gardner of Woodstock as teacher.

At the present time several vacancies exist in the Driver Education classes and registration may be effected by contacting Edward C. Hearn, instructor, at Boiceville.

FIRST NIGHT AIRPLANE FLIGHT

On June 22, 1910, approximately 12,000 persons watched a daring aviator as he took off from an airfield near Nashville, Tennessee for what is believed to have been the world's first night airplane flight. The plane stayed aloft for 18 minutes. The Nashville Board of Trade was so impressed with the feat that it voted a medal to the aviator.

Mark Twain was visiting H.

H. Rogers and the host led the humorist into his library. Host—There (pointing to a bust of white marble.) What do you think of that? (It was a bust of a young woman, coiling her hair—a graceful example of Italian sculpture. Mr. Clemens looked at it for a moment—then said.) Humorist—It isn't true to nature. Host—Why not? Humorist—She ought to have her mouth full of hairpins.

Failure is the only thing that can be achieved without exerting effort.

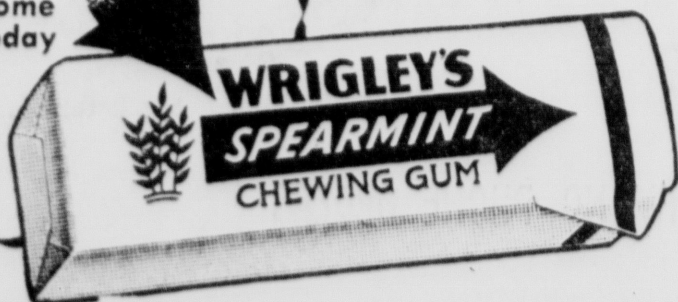

This outlandish yarn is credited to "Bo" McMillan, the football coach, at a dinner given in his honor by the alumni of Indiana University.

McMillan had just come from a coaching position out in Kansas, and he was speaking of the speed of the players he had coached out there. He told of one boy who had appeared at a Kansas school as a candidate for the football team, and had been so fast that he made all the others on the team look as stationary as the goal posts. The coach asked him how he had developed such phenomenal speed. The boy said he had done it chasing jack rabbits and catching them for his father's dinner.

Coach—But, I have other boys here who can catch jack rabbits.

A newspaper once reported:

The Mature Parent

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Rid of Word 'Love' And Try a Little Respect

The late Dr. Lawson G. Lowrey was a leader in child psychiatry and an especially creative human being. One day he said to me:

"Writing to parents as you do, why don't you suggest a moratorium on the word 'love'? Fools have stripped it of meaning. But they've not touched the word 'respect'. Why don't you suggest that parents respect kids instead of trying so hard to love them?"

The word "respect" comes from the Latin verb meaning to look at again.

To look again at the untidy mess Eddie has left in the bathroom may be to respect him. Our first look at it will just make us resent him.

It shows us only his destruction of the order we've created; the sodden towel bundled together with his soiled clothes on the floor. It shows us only one meaning in his action: disregard of us.

But with respect's second look we recall that Eddie was afraid of being late to cub scout meeting. In his hasty disregard of us, we now see regard for his friends and for cub scout rules. The second meaning to his untidiness so that when he comes home we can say without rancor, "Go upstairs to the bathroom and put your soiled clothes in the hamper."

Respect's second look at a child's objectionable action comes easier if we're used to looking twice at our own.

Just as Eddie's had two meanings, so has ours. When we snap at a relative who's criticized us for extravagance, we may become frightened at our rudeness. A second look at it will show it to us as something besides rudeness; our belief in our own capacity to judge the usefulness of the new nylon carpet we've bought.

And like our resentment at Eddie, our self-accusation loses its heat so that we can say to the critical relative, "I'm sorry I snapped at you. But I can't let you tell me that I'm incapable of knowing the kind of carpet I need."

Dr. Lowrey was for the second look because, like all psychiatrists, he knew that much of our trouble derives from our failures to see second meanings in the "bad" things we do. He knew that respect for ourselves, like respect for children, is freedom from prejudice; those notions we inherited from other people that told us everything we do is either all good or all bad.

He knew that our inherited prejudice against untidiness condemns it blindly, refusing us the second look we must always take to see reality for ourselves. (All rights reserved, NEA Service, Inc.)

soned, South would have no trouble with either six diamonds or six no-trump.

What East had failed to reason was that South was also cold for seven no-trump and there was no sacrifice available against that bid.

Of course, South did not bid that seven no-trump himself. Also, he did not double seven hearts as many players would. Instead he passed and left matters up to his partner.

This gave North a problem but he had little trouble solving it. North had considered a seven bid over his partner's six diamonds and again over his partner's six no-trump but had refrained on the theory that South had taken command with his Blackwood four no-trump.

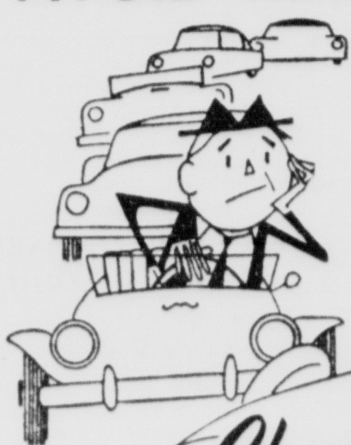

When South failed to double seven hearts it was a different story. Obviously, he did not think that West could make it. Hence, he wanted North to go to seven no-trump if he could and with three top spades North was willing.

Of Speed and Power

By FRANK TRIPP

What man hasn't modernized and spoiled remains the same along old Seneca, as I knew it when a boy. Nature will not be subdued; nor wipe golden days from memory.

It does worse: takes away the pioneers who were the link between the many generations who have inhabited the romantic Finger Lakes; my boyhood playground, our half-year home.

The Senecas, the strongest and largest tribe of the Iroquois Indian and their sage chief, Red Jacket, are the first recorded masters of the most majestic, deepest lake within New York State's borders.

Every year that we go back, the old lake reflects its mystery to a newer set of people who know it less and respect it little; yet its autocracy and pranks have never changed. And when it is ready it lashes forth its anger.

TRAFFIC congestion on the highways has extended to waterways miles in width. The Indians' birch bark canoes are replaced by high powered outboards piloted by mere children who will not legally drive a car for five more years.

Parents turn them loose with the most powerful craft they can afford—and trust to good fortune that they'll get back alive and kill nobody.

From where I write, the vista provides a thrill an hour in a busy vacation season. Smart young alecks chasing each other over 500 feet of water, making turns no boat was meant to negotiate; missing each other by feet, often inches. Fun?

PEOPLE RESENT laws and restrictions which their own stupidity make necessary. Now there will be, and needed, driving licenses for small craft operation and strict penalties for violating the common sense rules of navigation; so simple that they basically only mean keeping out of each other's way.

The curse that has made the automobile a lethal weapon has hit the boating industry, and is turning once safe spots for children into crossroads of death and danger. Power and speed. For why?

The joy of a boat once was the comfort of it. With no place to go and nothing to do when they get there, today's young speed demons are ruining a relaxation for others; endangering lives and turning quiet coves into noisy raceways.

THE OLD primers taught: "Walking and rowing are the best exercise." Find a kid today who will do either. They hitch hike to school, or go by public bus. They would sit on the shore all day rather than row a boat. Parents abet it.

The legs and the backs they neglect will fail them years too early; weak hearts and pithy lungs already take tolls in record numbers. Indulgent papas and mamas—not the kids—are the reason.

Speed and leisure are their gods; grief the Harvest! (Copyright, 1959, General Features Corp.)

Study of Large Flies Compiled in Booklet

ALBANY — The New York State Museum and Science Service has published a new booklet titled "The Common Salt-Marsh Tabanidae of Long Island, New York," a study of the annoying horse flies and deer flies that breed in the Long Island salt marshes.

The results of a study inaugurated in 1954 by the New York State Museum and Science Service with active cooperation of the Suffolk County Mosquito Control Commission are incorporated in Bulletin 375. The first part deals with the identification of the immature stages; the second with life history studies; the third with control experiments; and the last with the effects of control on some of the other salt-marsh fauna.

Although most of the material in the 78-page bulletin is technical information it does include an account of experiments in the control of the "greenheads," the most vicious and persistent biters of the local species of tabanids. Control of the flies under suitable conditions is shown to be possible and the work which led to the suggested control measures is described.

Costs of effective treatments and the effects on salt-marsh wildlife are also discussed in the bulletin.

Boy, 13, Found Chained To Bed, Father Held

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—A 13-year-old boy found chained to a bed was in a foster home today. His father was under arrest.

The father, Alonzo McEwen, an unemployed auto mechanic who has nine other children, told police he chained the boy as punishment for going out after being ordered to stay in.

No specific charge was placed immediately against the father.

Police, acting on a tip, found the youngster Sunday. He had been chained for 24 hours, they said, and had been given only a bowl of soup and a bowl of cornmeal during that time.

He was not otherwise harmed, they said.

McEwen, his wife, and their family live in a slum apartment that has been condemned. The family is on relief.

WHO SUPPLIES THE FOOD?

Dear Mrs. Post: If a young man asks a girl to go on a picnic with her, who is supposed to supply the food? If the girl provides it, does the young man reimburse her for the amount spent? I always thought the girl brought the food and he paid for any other extras that were involved. My friends disagree with me and say that if he asks the girl he should pay for the food; if she asks him, then she pays for it. Will you please settle this point?

Answer: Your friends are correct. It would not be much of an invitation if the young man, or the girl were to add to it, "and you bring the food."

Showing Appreciation for a Gift
Dear Mrs. Post: I am always embarrassed and helpless when, for example, several friends are invited to dinner and one arrives with a present and the other two without. Should I open the present and possibly embarrass the two who brought nothing, or put it aside and possibly hurt the one who did? Please tell me the polite thing to do in this situation.

Answer: It would be very rude of you not to open and admire a gift brought to you, and as there is no obligation for anyone to bring a gift to a dinner hostess, those who arrive with nothing should not be embarrassed because you do so.

Closing for Social Letters
Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me the proper closing for a letter to a social acquaintance? Some of my friends say, "Very truly yours," or "Yours very truly" is correct. Others say that this is incorrect and that "Sincerely yours," or "Sincerely" is the proper close.

Answer: Either "Sincerely," or "Very sincerely," is correct for social usage. "Very truly yours" was used in olden times but is a definitely business letter phrase today.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her leaflet E-18, entitled, "Questions in Etiquette Test," send 10 cents in coin to Dept. E. Men and Sports Clothes

Is your sports coat out of style? If it's a dark solid color or a muted stripe, or if it comes with big, broad shoulders, then it most certainly is.

Checks and plaids have taken over all-wool sports coats for fall '59, reports from the Wool Bureau indicate.

Not only this, but wool sports coats will be worn more often this season. Even to work. In the not too distant past, men relegated their sports coats to the clothes closet during the week and wore them only weekends. And then only when the occasion called for something very casual. That is why a sports coat lasted for years and years. . . . But today, the man who wears his fine wool sports coat to the office is no longer frowned upon. And if he wears it when dining out in a neighborhood restaurant, he isn't refused a table. There's the possibility, too, that he may wear it on Saturday night if the "night out" doesn't call for a wool suit.

Could be that we're all going to the dogs! And if we are, at least we're going there in good-looking comfortable clothes.

New Patterns Appear

Thanks to the styling influence of European custom-tailors, especially those of France and Italy, and the competitive spirit of manufacturers over here, sports coats of the "made in America" variety are shedding their staid, conservative appearance. Taking the place of dark solid colors and somber muted stripes of last winter are bold hound's tooth patterns, big checks and multi-colored plaids.

These fancy patterns are distinctive and masculine. They "belong" in sports coats and should never have been dropped, as indeed they were when Ivy became the accepted mode of dress a decade ago.

Colors Important

Visit any clothing store, and you'll be surprised at the changes which have taken place in sports coat styling. The big news is color. Tweedy woofs have brightened up. With us this fall are rich burnished tones, mustard and olive. Such colors give a new and welcome lift to casual sports coats.

You'll find burnished hues, which are the rich rustic tones of autumn, in the classic "Natural Shoulder," as well as the contemporary "Continental." There's a distinct difference in the silhouettes of these two styles. The "Natural Shoulder" is a straight-hanging jacket, has minimum shoulder padding. It's a three-button coat, too with flapped pockets and center vent in back. High fashion considers it a conservatively-styled coat. Newer in styling and more dashing is the "Continental." This is a shaped jacket, has padded shoulders. Other details of the "Continental" are the slanted pockets with lapped seams, the deep side vents and semi-peaked lapels.

Patterns and You

If you're a big, heavy man, chances are you'll look best in a bold checked wool sports coat. Red and mustard, gray and mustard, green and red are new color combinations.

There's no reason why men of average build can't go in for patterned wool sports coats. The "Continental" is a style well-suited for them. The "Contin-tal" comes brightly-patterned. Particularly exciting are hound's tooth patterns in green and mustard, black and white, blue and white, and even in brown and white. New techniques in weaving of wool give sports coats a sharpness in color unseen in past years.

Checks and hound's tooth patterns are not the entire pattern story for fall of 1959. There are also large glen plaid patterns in Shetland wool. In Ivy and "hacking" coats, the glen plaids of today featuring such unusual trios as red, white and blue, or black, white and red are Scottish-looking in eight-to-ten ounce woofs.

Summer Theatres

Woodstock Is First To Give Broadway Hit by Ustinov

For the first time the Woodstock Playhouse has made a change in its announced schedule of plays. The reason for this departure was the sudden availability of recent unanimously acclaimed Broadway success Peter Ustinov's "Romanoff and Juliet." Thus the Woodstock Playhouse becomes the first summer playhouse, and possibly the only one this season, to present this grand, clever satire. It starts Tuesday, July 28th.

As one might guess from its title, "Romanoff and Juliet" was inspired by Shakespeare's tragedy, but Peter Ustinov's play is anything but that. It is downright funny.

The scene is laid in an unknown country and the two feuding characters are the American and Russian ambassadors. Jibes and satirical darts are aimed at modern diplomats in a manner to hit your funny bone throughout the entire evening.

If the foreign services only had Ustinov's sense of humor! The plot becomes humorously complicated when young Romanoff, the son of the Russian ambassador, falls in love with Juliet, the daughter of the American ambassador. A good guess is that they don't commit suicide.

The leading role of the General is played by Paul Shyre whom last year, in the Playhouse's production of "The Matchmaker," Gerald E. McGonigill is back for his fourth year as the American Ambassador with Katherine Guilford as his wife. The Russian diplomatic couple are Frederick Young and Tommie Beere. The lovers, Igor and Juliet, are portrayed by Wayne Maxwell, who was so effective in the opening play this season, "Blue Denim" and Sally Jessup. The rival lovers will be Peter Levin, the Spy will be played by Curt Lowens. Two soldiers, who give the play its delightful background will be portrayed by Darren Tucker and Nathaniel White, while Director M. David Samples will make his second appearance this season as the Archbishop.

A feature of "Romanoff and Juliet" will be the set, planned by Jack Blackman who has drawn consistent praises all season. The set he will put on display is one never seen in a summer playhouse, with its turntable design and multiple effects.

Yiddish Version

NEW YORK (AP) — Maurice Schwartz, veteran star, is returning to New York after several years' absence in his own Yiddish translation of the former White Way comedy, "A Hole in the Head." Schwartz has concentrated in the past on classical assignments, calls this his first attempt at a modern Broadway play. Translating the Arnold Schulman script wasn't too much of a problem, said Schwartz. "His writing is a mixture of Chekhov and Sholem Aleichem," the actor explained. "It could well have been written first in Yiddish and then translated into English."

By the time he was 18, Voltaire's literary genius had gained him entrance to France's most brilliant intellectual circles.

MRS. JOHN DANIEL KEATING (Aufenger photo)

Klucz-Keating Wedding Is Announced; Ceremony Takes Place at Naval Chapel

Miss Joan Elizabeth Klucz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Mathias Klucz of Norfolk, Va., wed Lt. John Daniel Keating, U. S. Navy, at the Chapel of the Good Shepherd, Naval Air Station, Oceana, Va., on Saturday, July 11. Lt. Keating is the son of Lt. Col. (U. S. Army, retired) and Mrs. Stephen J. Keating of Kingston.

The Rev. Mark P. Sullivan officiated at the double ring ceremony. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white silk organza fashioned with a semi-scoop neckline edged in nylon brocade lace and bud type bodice. The dome skirt was accented with side garlands of lace and terminated in a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was arranged from a lace Juliet cap. On her prayer book were pompons and streamers with white orchids and baby's breath.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Helen Paxson, served as matron of honor in a pale lemon colored floor length gown. She carried giant daisies. Her headpiece, a crown of pearls, held a flirtation veil.

The bridesmaids, Misses Briget Maloney, Flora Caton, Carolyn and Geraldine Klucz, were bridesmaids. They wore gowns of mint green styled identically to that worn by the honor attendant.

The bridegroom's brother, Stephen J. Keating Jr., of Palo Alto, Calif., was best man. Ushers were Lt. Gilberta Friday of Pennsylvania, and Lt. Joseph L. Mullen of Montana, both flight surgeons in the bridegroom's squadron. Also serving were Lt. (j.g.) Angelo Gravagna of Montclair, N. J., and Thomas Keating, brother of the bridegroom.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Officers' Club, Naval Air Station, Oceana, Va.

After a wedding trip through the New England states, the couple will be at home at 204 Strawberry Lane, Virginia Beach, Va.

2-Alarm Fire Causes Damage to Building

The upper section of a 2½-story frame building at 44 Washington Street, Poughkeepsie was heavily damaged in a fire of undetermined origin shortly after 6 p. m. Sunday.

A general alarm was sounded at 6:11 p. m. and a second alarm at 6:13 p. m. with seven pieces of apparatus rolling.

The first floor, occupied by Thomas Flanagan Appliance store, reportedly received water damage.

Mrs. Barbara Angelo and her four children, who occupy an apartment on the second floor left the building safely. The building is owned by Mrs. George Stickler.

The Poughkeepsie Fire Department reported that flames burned through the roof. The fire apparently originated in the attic.

Three Entrances

A quick test of your home's convenience is the number of outside entrances it provides, suggests the Institute of Home Designers. In order to have the proper traffic patterns for guests, service deliveries, storage, youngsters, etc., it says the average one-story home should have three entrances—to the front, to the rear of the house at or next to the kitchen and to the basement.

Olean Firm Says It Is Considering Moving to Texas

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Two executives of the strikebound Clark Brothers Co. of Olean, N. Y., say they are considering several sites in Texas for a new plant.

F. W. Laverty, president, and Joe J. Rosecky, executive vice president, said Saturday that Beaumont, Dallas, Houston and Waco were under consideration but the final selection would not necessarily be limited to those four.

They said a Missouri-Kansas-Texas (Katy) Railroad shop in Waco appeared to meet company requirements. The shop would be available because of a Katy consolidation program. It is equipped with heavy cranes.

The Olean company, strike-bound for eight weeks, plans to open a plant here employing 500 to 750 workers at the start.

Laverty said his company planned to move its gas turbine division to Texas. Clark Brothers also manufactured heavy compressors.

A company spokesman in Olean noted that 500 workers in the gas turbine division would be affected if the division moved to Texas.

Charles E. Keller, vice president of union Local 4601 at the Olean plant, said union members "refused to take seriously any rumors that the turbo division would leave" Olean.

Nearly 1,500 United Steelworkers members struck the Olean plant June 1, when their contract expired.

The union originally was seeking a new wage package calling for an estimated 77 cents an hour increase. A later proposal withdrew several of the fringe benefit demands, a union spokesman said.

The company has offered the union a 24 cents an hour increase but that offer was rejected June 20.

The hourly wage rate under the expired contract was not disclosed.

The arrangement of 10 buttons—one for each digit—consists of three horizontal rows of three each, plus the zero or operator button at the bottom. Push-button dialing takes about five seconds, compared to nine for rotary dialing.

National All Stars Defeat Schenectady in Babe Ruth League

Ferraro Pitches Win; Sickler Slams Homer

Kingston National League All Stars moved into the New York State Babe Ruth League finals by defeating the Schenectady All Stars, 3 to 2, Saturday at Schenectady.

Mike Ferraro came within an out of pitching a shutout, losing it with two outs in the bottom of the seventh when a Kingston outfielder lost a ball in the sun with the bases loaded.

Two runs scored on the fluke hit, but Ferraro nailed down the victory by striking out the next batter.

Ferraro allowed only five hits, struck out 11 and walked only one to gain the decision over Ed Barnaski, who gave up four hits and racked up 14 strikeouts.

Richie Sickler slammed a solo home run in the fourth inning for one of the Kingston tallies. Ferraro picked up a single to tie with Sickler for batting honors in the tournament to date. Both players have slugged 8 hits in 14 trips to the plate for a robust .571 batting average.

Two Double Plays
The other Kingston safeties went to Bill Boice and Johnny Hetsco. The five Schenectady hits were also distributed among five players, Joe Lesly, cleanup batter for the Dorpians, hit a double.

The Nationals backed up Ferraro with a couple of flashy double plays. Vince Smedes gloved a line drive and doubled a runner off first base in the third inning. Ferraro pulled himself out of a jam with the bases loaded and none out in the fourth, when he snared a tap to the mound and started a pitcher-catcher-first base twin killing.

Kingston plays at Amsterdam Friday night in the tournament finals involving eight teams. The ultimate survivor goes to the Nationals in Washington.

Milwaukee Bounces Back Cleveland Rookies Sparkle

Beat Pirates In Twinbill; Giants Bow, 7-3

No Milwaukee burgher is hanging Fred Haney in effigy today. Nobody is whispering that Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette are over the hill. The Braves are up and at 'em again with a four-game winning streak.

Trailing the league-leading San Francisco Giants by only two games after a sweep of Sunday's doubleheader with Pittsburgh, Milwaukee seems to have snapped out of its mid-summer slump.

Spahn's emphatic five-hitter in the 4th opener was the Braves' third straight shutout.

One unearned run in the fourth inning of the second game finally snapped a string of 30 2-3 scoreless innings for Pittsburgh but it didn't help much. They still lost 2-1 to Bob Buhl, making his first start since June 19 after a siege of arm trouble.

Spahn's 13th victory, the 259th of his long career, was impressive. Buhl tired after seven innings and Don McMahon finished up with two hitless innings.

The Milwaukee attack still sputtered and stalled. They had only six hits in the opener while handing Bob Friend his 13th defeat. One was Johnny Logan's 12th homer. They had only five hits in the second but one was Joe Adcock's 11th homer.

Bob Anderson pulled San Francisco back a little closer to the pack as he pitched the Chicago Cubs into fourth place with a 7-3 victory. The Giants' defeat and Los Angeles' 8-2 decision over St. Louis sliced San Francisco's lead to 1½ games.

Cincinnati snapped Philadelphia's five-game winning streak in the first game 4-2 but Gene Conley got the Phils an even break with a 6-3 triumph in the second game when Richie Ashburn led a 14-hit Phil attack.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This study on pleasure boat safety is by one of the nation's top boating editors who also writes a weekly column, "America Afloat," for the Kingston Daily Freeman.

By WM. TAYLOR McKEOWN
Editor, Popular Boating
Distributed by NEA Service
NEW YORK — (NEA) — Is pleasure boating becoming unsafe?

This is a question which has been asked this summer since the Fourth of July weekend when there were 60 fatalities across the nation as the result of boating mishaps.

A study of the statistics does not show that a day on the water is less safe than ever before, or that the thousands of newcomers to the sport are endangering other boatmen.

It is the solitary boatman off in a secluded spot who appears most likely to get in trouble. Here he is quietly fishing, perhaps, or cruising with his family, in a small and often overloaded boat. He becomes careless, loses his balance while standing up and falls overboard.

Other figures show that in 36 per cent of boating accidents, the largest percentage, operator negligence is responsible for someone falling overboard while the boat is at anchor, being run recklessly or taking a sharp turn too fast. In none of these cases was the boat turned over.

A capsized boat, which can also be the direct result of careless operation, comes next with 24 per cent blame for accidents, followed by 18 per cent caused by swamping from waves, wake of other boats or storms. Often the boat is found and it is impossible to determine exact reasons for the mishap.

The tremendous new popularity of boating is not causing more accidents, but it is swelling the numbers of new and more experienced boatmen who can get in trouble, or cause it, as a result of overconfidence.

Operator negligence and recklessness will not only provoke more trouble, but can encourage necessary and restrictive legislation. The Fourth of July figures are an early storm warning that all boatmen must protect their sport by practicing it with added care.

Safety in a boat can be simple for every boatman if he follows the 10 basic rules in the accompanying box.

The 10 Basic Rules for Boating Safety

1. Never overload your boat. The number of seats in a small craft may not mean the number of passengers which can safely be carried. Learn how to place your family and friends for best balance.

2. Board your boat carefully. Step into the center of a small boat and grasp the gunwales. Too many people fall overboard before they even get aboard.

3. Be sure you have an approved cushion, vest or life ring preserver for yourself and every passenger. Small youngsters should always wear vest preservers. Point out to them that racing drivers always wear this kind.

4. Never stand up in your small boat, not even when you drop your fishing pole overboard. You're likely to fall in. To change places with another passenger in a small craft, lean forward to keep your weight low and hold both sides.

5. Always play safety first with the weather. A small can capsize your boat. Calm sunshine can burn severely. Stay ashore if bad weather threatens. Head for shore at the first sign of fog or threatening thunder clouds.

6. Learn the rules of right-of-way. Stay away from big craft and sailboats. Big boats may not have room to maneuver and the wake they throw can tip you over.

7. Don't abandon ship. If you tip over, hang on until help arrives. The shore is always much farther away than it looks and swimming with clothing can tire you very quickly. Be sure your boat will float when filled with water; if made of metal or plastic, add flotation blocks as needed.

8. It is much easier to tip when turning at high speed. The wake you throw can damage nearby boats. Speed in rough water will injure your craft.

9. Always carry all equipment legally required—life preservers, fire extinguishers, lights, a good anchor and anchor line and bailing can or pump.

Seeded Players Advance in Kingston Tennis Tournament

Seeded players came through as expected, with only former city champion, Chet Fox, a casualty in opening matches of the Kingston Tennis Tournament at Forsyth Park.

Fox bowed to the superior play of Dick Little, former doubles winner, 6-4 and 6-3. Defending champion George Baron turned back Noel Bonacci, 7-5 and 6-2, after Bonacci had taken a stirring first round match from Ed Lindhurst, 6-2, 6-8, 6-1.

Bonacci succumbed to Baron's steady backhand and forehand drive, although he led at one stare, 5-1.

Other results:
Tom Conway defeated Jim Nottingham, 6-1, 7-5.

Marty Kays overpowered Dick Holbrook, 6-0, 6-1, after Holbrook had upended veteran G. Herbert DeKay, 8-6, 6-1.

Phil Faluotico defeated Al Becker, 6-2, 6-3.

Bob Connell defeated Steve Krosner, 8-6, 6-1.

Gene Floto defeated Bob Friedman, 7-6, 6-2.

Play continues each evening this week, with the semi-finals slated Friday and the finals Saturday at 2 p. m.

Will Keep Her House To Suit Pet Mouse

HAVANT, England (AP) — Stella Thompson thinks mice are nice. She would rather have a mouse than a house.

The mouse, a wild one which Miss Thompson tamed, has the run of her one-room flat. She calls him Will.

Miss Thompson, 37, has been left a large modern house by her late father, but she has decided not to move.

"I don't think Will would take to new surroundings," she explained. "He is shy and cannot fend for himself, and I just can't leave him."

Cement Mix Truck Drivers Work Today

NEW YORK (AP)—Some 1,250 union cement mix truck drivers returned to work today after a three-week strike which had held up construction on many major building and road projects in the metropolitan area.

Anthony Duffy, secretary-treasurer of Local 282, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, said "All of the 1,250 truckers are back to work" for the 40 firms by whom they are employed.

The union and company heads came to agreement Thursday on a new contract providing for wage increases of 37½ cents an hour over the old contract level of $3.12½ an hour. An additional three cents an hour will be added to the pension fund and two cents an hour to the health and welfare fund.

Duffy was unable to say how soon the return to work of the drivers would take up the slack among some 100,000 idled workers in allied trades.

The actual work contract was drawn up at a bargaining session last Tuesday and approved by an almost unanimous vote of the union membership Thursday.

Police Hunt Creek Pirates in Thefts

A form of riverboat piracy appeared in progress here over the weekend.

Two boats were reported taken from where they had been moored in the Rondout creek, and although both were later found, one was minus a new $900, 50-horsepower Evinrude outboard motor.

Andrew Hricisak, of 715 Abeel Street, notified police at 6:50 a. m., today that his cabin cruiser had been taken from where it had been moored in the creek opposite his house. The theft, he said, could have occurred between 9 p. m., Sunday and 6:20 a. m., today.

A short time after reporting the theft, Hricisak said he found the boat some distance up the creek toward Eddyville with its engine missing.

Mrs. Walter Greenleaf, 119 DeWitt Street, notified police at about 1 p. m. Saturday that her husband's boat had been stolen from the creek near the railroad bridge between Friday night and 1 p. m. Saturday. The report indicated it had been seen being towed. It was later found at a Ferry Street dock.

Churchman Reports

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — A churchman just back from Communist China said today that religious literature can be distributed in the streets there provided it does not interfere with traffic. The Rev. Edwin L. Williams, principal of the Churches of Christ Bible College in Melbourne, made a five-week tour of China and Russia with five other Australian church leaders of various Christian denominations.

Warns About Attack

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt (AP) — Israel will be wiped from the map if she attacks Egypt, United Arab Republic President Gamel Abdel Nasser told a cheering crowd Sunday. Appearing at a rally celebrating the seventh anniversary of the 1952 Egyptian revolution that toppled King Farouk, Nasser's bristling speech was prompted by a statement from former Israeli army chief Moshe Dayan that his country should "return hostility for hostility" from Egypt.

NEW PRESIDENT OF ULSTER VOLS—George Majestic of Gardiner, (center) Democratic supervisor of the town, is the new president of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association. At left is Ernest Ahlberg, New Paltz, first vice president; right, Lee Keator, director for five years. Elections were held Friday night at Tilton Firehouse. The three-day vol's convention opened Thursday and ended Saturday evening with a parade. (Freeman photo).

Khrushchev Same With Him, Says Adlai

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—Adlai Stevenson said today that Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's verbal duel with Vice President Richard M. Nixon in Moscow Friday was nothing new.

"Khrushchev is that way often," the former Democratic presidential candidate said. "It's no novelty. He behaves according to his sudden changes in mood. He has done the same with other Americans. He acted the same way with me when I went to the Soviet Union last summer."

Stevenson, here on vacation, said he considered the international situation even more grave than it was a year ago.

Tiny One Leads Way

LONDON (AP)—A burglar gang spearheaded by a child or midget made off with 20,000 pounds ($36,000) in a weekend raid on an east London bank. Police said the robbers got into the bank by pushing a tiny member of the gang between the bars protecting a lavatory window. The tiny one let the mob in through the front door.
